3-2 many people involved in violent activity. Not sweets baybars High adrenaline combat tension

Impression of a person being held depicts in a room of the sound of gunfire feels reasonably well-~~little~~<sup>little</sup> Wiederholend after extremely stressful period. People who are normally pressing/oppressing him are occupied in the ongoing activities elsewhere. Lightly guarded, not going anywhere. Bored, beyond being apprehensive. Can't do anything to him that hasn't been done to him already, <sup>for little</sup> but depress him, & cause him to give up hope. Intrinsically & feeling contemptuous & obstinate; copes a little so far.
 Pretend to drop in captor but has a secret grudging respect for them This person's existence is pretty much a sick issue that knows much care about at the moment. He's continually pre-occupied of how he might get away. He ~~seems~~ likes his ~~present~~ guard.
 The individual is wearing a light purple kuchi-shiki "like" a bush shirt. Room enclosed in seems to be 2nd or 3rd floor that once had windows but have been sealed up. There is a door entering on a hall leading to stairs going into interior of somewhat eventually leading out to street. Person knows going out that way not good idea, since no streets are safe and getting back out there would be no better than being stuck in here.
